MOUNT VERNON.

The people of Mount Vernon had reason to feel proud of its Volunteer Fire Department yesterday for in the annual parade there were recognized in the various companies some of the staiwart men in the city-men engaged in business pursuits, in professional pursuits and in the trades, and many of them among the largest taxpayers. The new hose carriages, hook and ladder truck, and patrol wagor looked fine in their new paint and highly polished etal, while the steamer and other department vemetal, while the steamer and other department hicles which have seen service showed that they were well taken care of. The men gave evidence that they could be pitted against any other department in the State on all points, and they received applause from the residents of every block and the applause from the residents of every block and the commendations of chiefs and others from out of town. The department was reviewed by Mayor Edson Lewis and members of the Common Council, and the line, from its beginning with Chief Edwin T. Fiske in the lead, to the company of boys and the last man in line, was one to command the highest praise from those who saw it. Prior to the parade the houses and apparatus were inspected by the commissioners, accompanied by Chief Hugh Bonner and A. C. Hull, superintendent of the Fire Patrol, of New-York; C. C. Little, president of the Phoenix Fire Insurance Company; Chiefs W. R. Nossiter, of Tarrytown; T. Ross, of New-Rochele; James Haight, of Peekskill; E. Lowden, of Port Chester, and M. Stahl, of Yonkers. Supper was served after the parade.

Newark-ave. Jeweller, who identified them as a pair of glasses he had sold to George Gassan, of No. 436 Summit-ave., and the watch as one he had sold to Mrs. and Miss Gassan for a Christmas present to Mr. Gassan. Mr. Gassan said he had been knocked down at mididght at Grand-st, and Clinton-ave, by a colored man, who robbed him of a watch and eye-glasses. The blow dealt him was so severe that he had since been unable to get out. He visited headquarters later in the day and identified Jones as his assailant. Jones was committed for trial.

Patrick Egan, of Tenth and Coles sts., Jersey City, who drives a cart for a contractor, went to a quarry on the Heights at Rayine-st, yesterday to get a load of crushed stone. The stone was at the edge of the cliff, which is forty feet high, overhanging the meadows. Egan undertook to back his horse to the pile of stones, but the animal became unmanageable, and finally backed off the cliff. Egan letting go of the bit barely in time to avoid being dragged down also. The horse was killed and the cart was hopelessly wrecked.

The Pennsylvania ferryboat Washington left Cortlandt-st. New-York, for Jersey City at 7:10 o'clock last night. When the boat reached the middle of the river a young man jumped overboard. The boat was stopped and several tugs steamed up, but the body was swept away by the tide. The suiclde was apparently about twenty-five years old. He left nothing on the boat by which he could be identified.

The 7th Regiment, New-Jersey Volunteers, held a reunion and celebrated the thirty-fourth anniversary of the day they started for the seat of war, in the rooms of Phil Kearny Post, G. A. R. yesterday. George B. Adams, of Irvington, presided at the business meeting, which elected George sided at the business meeting, which elected George trouble on the occasion of the Cherokee Club H. County Physician Washington held an autopsy yesterday on the body of George Beiz, aged twen-ity-five, a lineman, who was killed by an electric wire on a pole in Eighth-ave, on Wednesday night, He found that the skull was fractured, the neek broken and the left arm broken. The County Physician was informed that the wire carried 5,000 voits. The bodly injuries were caused by the fall from the pole.

P. Bowron, of Bloomfield, is confined to James P. Bowron, of Eloomfield, is confined to his bed and will probably die, as a result of injuries inflicted yesterday by a buil which he owns. Bowron owns a farm near Brookdale, and was inspecting it yesterday when the buil attacked him. Bowron ran, but was unable to get away from the animal, which tossed him several times. One of its horns badly lacerated his left breast, and it is believed that this wound will prove fatai. There are also several usly wounds on the man's head. He would have been killed instantly had it not been that he got hold of the ring in the buil's nose, and held on to it while he was tossed about. The buil finally threw him high in the air, and Bowron landed on the other side of a fence, where he was found by a number of farmhands.

ELIZABETH.

The office of the Singer Works was the scene of surprised crowd of workmen yesterday, when 300 men were summoned to the office by the superintendent. The men were astonished when they entered the room to find several deputies from the were then told that they were in arrears for their taxes, and would either have to pay up at once or go to jail. Every man in the crowd owes the city from $1 to $10 for taxes. Many of the men were without funds, and a few had the amount required. The officers of the company paid the taxes of those who did not have the money on an order signed by them, stipulating that the amount be deducted from their pay. This is the second time that the company has been called upon to pay taxes in this way. were then told that they were in arrears for their

HOBOKEN.

Michael Geringer, sixty years old, is at St. Mary's Hospital, Hoboken, having been found sick in Church Square Park yesterday. He says he was courier for Bismarck during the Franco-Prussian War, and received for his services an extensive estate in Hanover. Two years afterward he was stripped of his property and driven into exile. He came to the country in 1879, and worked for an importing house in New-York until six months ago. Now he is sick, unable to work, and homeless.

LATEST STYLES IN MEN'S DRESS SHOWN

The third annual fall exhibition of the New-York Merchant Tailors' Society is now being held at the society's clubrooms, No. 241 Fifth-ave. The members of the association, numbering more than one hundred, have placed their best work on exhibihundred, have placed their best work on exhibi-tion, and the result is a collection of garments that would delight the most fastidiously dressed man in the city. Fall and winter overcoats and suits for all times and occasions are shown. Chief among the novelties is are evening dress coat of dark brown, possibly an indication of the threatened war against the customary suit of solemn black. The exhibition will be open to the public from 3 until 10 o'clock p. m. to-day and to-morrow.

CONTINUING THE FORNEY COURT-MARTIAL. The legal battle over the coal heap of the marine barracks in the Brooklyn Navy Yard and Colonel Forney's connection with its depletion was con tinued yesterday, and a number of witnesses were called to prove that the Colonel either had or had not used the coal without warrant of law or custom. Lieutenant Lawrence H. Moses told what he knew about the smoky chimney, and Major Robert W. Huntington and other witnesses testified regarding the way the different coal accounts were kept. The testimony, in the main, was corroborative of that given at the court of inquiry, and nothing new was brought out. At the afternoon session of the court there was a legal tilt between sersion of the court there was a legal tilt between counsel over the admission of some reports, one of which was made and passed upon long before the present cause of argument came before the authorities, and in this case, after the court had been cleared for consultation, the decision was against the defence.

There is a good chance that the furniture question will come up to-day, and the other charges against the Colonel brought before the court, which will meet at 10 o'clock.

Libbey, the popular and well-known boniface who for ard of ten years catered so successfully to the public at the Brevoort House. Mr. Libbey's friends have not deserted him in his new venture, but have gathered at the Albemarle in most flattering numbers. The people who made the Brevoort House their abiding place in the old days have found the same congenial surroundings at the Albemarle which attracted them to the Brevoort, The appointments at the Albemarle are, however, much more extensive and elaborate than they were at Mr. Libbey's old house.

The Albemarle's 140 rooms have been refurnished throughout on a scale to suit the most fastidious. throughout on a scale to suit the most fastidious. There is not a single carpet in the house, polished oak floors and rugs having taken their places. Special attention has been given to the culsine, and the chefs who preside over this most important branch of the business are among the most competent in the world. The location of the Albermarie is unsurpassed, as it is opposite Madison Square Park, and all the principal theatres and other places of amusement are easily reached from it. With all its manifold advantages it is not strange that this hotel, under the personal supervision of Mr. Libbey, should meet with more than the usual success of new hotels.

THEIR LETTER WAS EFFECTIVE.

The Greek pushcart pedlers who were arrested on Wednesday yesterday presented to Magistrate Wentworth, in the Tombs Court, a remarkably well-written letter, composed by them during their imprisonment in the Elizabeth-st. station Wednes-day night. They declared that they had not vio-lated the rules of their licenses, and alleged that they were the victims of wealthy storekeepers. Magistrate Wentworth discharged them.

Flags were flying at halfmast yesterday from the Brooklyn Trust Company and the Hamilton Club buildings, Mr. Low having been prominently identified with both organizations.

Many expressions of regret over Mr. Low's death were heard in Brooklyn yesterday by those who remembered him as a useful and exemplary citizen. He became a resident of Brooklyn in the forties, and took a great interest in local affairs.

About twenty years ago Mr. Low and his wife made a trip around the world. Mr. Low contracted a fever in India, from the effects of which he never fully recovered. When he left Brooklyn last April for Newport he did not expect to geturn, so feeble had he become. Since his retirement from active business Mr. Low spent the greater part of his time at his Newport house. He and his brother were among the earliest to turn their attention to were among the earliest to turn their attention to Newport's advantages as a summer resort. They made large investments there. White, Commissioner of City Works, His sons—Chauncey and Ethelbert—are both dead. Two brothers—E. A. Low, of Brooklyn, and Captain Charles, P. Low, of Santa Barbara, Cal.—are living.

In all the positions of trust and honor which Mr. Low filled he was the soul of probity and always unostentatious. He leaves an estate worth several millions of dollars.

GOLD EXPORTS MAY CEASE SOON.

INDICATIONS THAT THE END OF THE MOVEMENT IS IN SIGHT. The indications in Wall Street yesterday were that little, if any, gold would be shipped to-morrow. Although, as was learned from excellent authority, W. H. Crossman & Bro. had intended two days day it was learned that the firm had purchased only $1,000,000 in commercial bills, with strong indimeet these, they would be met by other bills of exchange as a cheaper method of meeting the conditions than to ship the gold. The firm will probably, therefore, ship no gold if exchange keeps down as it did yesterday. The reductions in the posted rate for sterling exchange yesterday afternoon, taken with the free offering of bankers' bills, was interpreted by foreign bankers as meaning that the end of gold shipments for the year is at hand.

There were no deposits or withdrawals of gold at the Sub-Treasury yesterday. W. E. Curtis still remained in town, and called on Mr. Jordan. All he had to offer for the enlightenment of mankind was his oft-told tale that he was here only on private business. In that case the opinion is hazarded in the Street that Mr. Curtis must have a mortgage on the Sub-Treasury.

A member of the syndicate stated yesterday with much fervor that another bond issue would probably not be made this year, that the President would not entertain the idea unless the reserve fell below $15,000,000, and that, with the impending reduction of the banks' reserve to $20,000,000, and the ensuing higher rate for call money thereby made essential, any such depletion of the National reserve would not be possible.

BUFFALO MAY FORWARD GOLD.

Buffalo, Sept. 19.-It is altogether likely that Buffalo banks may decide to follow the example set by those of other cities in assisting the Govern-ment with a portion of their accumulated gold. William H. Cornwell, president of the City Bank and of the State Bankers' Association, stated this morning that the banks of this city have nearly $1,000,000 in gold on deposit in safety vaults, and represented by certificates which are used to settle clearing-house balances.

"One-half million or more of this gold," Mr. Cornwell said, "could be shipped to the Treasury Cornwell said, "could be shipped to the Treasury and legal-tenders substituted in the safe deposit vaults without the slightest inconvenience, and as a local medium for the settlement of exchange the legal-tender would fill every requirement. If the leading chies of the country would all take this action the twenty or thirty millions needed by the Treasury would immediately be forthcoming and matters would be tided over until exports of produce began to bring gold this way, in conclusion, I would say that we have no use for gold here in Buffalo except in small amounts from time to time."

Burano except in small amounts from time."

President Charles A. Sweet, of the Third National Bank, President Pascal P. Pratt, of the Manufacturers and Traders' Bank, and other leading hankers coincide with Mr. Cornweil's views and say that should the necessity arise the Buralo banks would cheerfully respond. Mr. Pratt, however, thinks that as soon as fravel abroad is over there will be less demand for gold and the condition of things will improve. The present lack of gold, he says, is the result of travel; that $100.000,000 has no doubt been expended by our travellers abroad, in one way and another, and when these return home there will be no such draft on the Treasury as there has been of late.

with the gold scare. Superintendent Kretz to-day explained away that idea. He said:

Why should the Government want to coin the builton? People who want gold for export purposes would much prefer having it in bars, and I am sure that the order given us here to coin double engles has nothing whatever to do with the gold scare, which is seemingly attracting the attention of the whole country. At certain seasons of the year we have demands made upon us for certain coins, say, for instance, at Christmas time. In that part of the year many people like 16 gold pieces. Fall and Winter Clothing is now on sale at retail. We have improved our clothes wherever possible, and our new stock is, by long odds, the handsomest and best-made that we have ever shown. Our prices are low-lower than ever. We have applied to our retail business. from the start, the wholesale principle of small profits, and there is no store anywhere, we honestly believe, that charges as little as we for thoroughly good clothes.
